GENERAL STRIKE THROUGHOUT BELGIUM

Brussels, April 14.—The great strike of workingmen in Belgium to force the government to grant manhood suffrage began quietly today and at nightfall it was estimated that 200,000 men throughout the country had quit work. This number is at least 100,000 short of the Socialist predictions, and the Clerical press is beginning to call the move a "pitiable fiasco."

Nevertheless the strike has shown greater strength than was expected by impartial observers and, because of the fact that the numbers increased as the day advanced, it is generally believed the strikers will be reinforced by several thousands tomorrow.

The strike thus far has been marked by neither disturbances nor any special inconveniences to the public.

The gas, water and street cleaning services and the street cars and railroads are in operation as usual, but Brussels merchants say trade is at a standstill. The city is full of children of the provincial strikers, who are being cared for by the families of Liberals.

Important Suit Comes Up.

Chicago, Ill., April 15.—The injunction suit of the government against the sanitary district of Chicago, involving the pumping of water from Lake Michigan, was called for trial in the Federal court here today. The Petition of the federal authorities has been pending for several years and has been waiting the decision of the war department recently rendered which denied the application of the sanitary board to pump an addition 10,000 cubic feet of water per second from the lake. Canada as well as a number of the states are directly interested in the outcome of the suit, owing to the allegation that any additional pumping would result in a lowering of the levels of the great lakes and thereby interfere with shipping.

HOUSE REJECTS ABOLITION

BY CLOSE VOTE REFUSES TO PUT WOODWARD RESOLUTION ON CALENDAR.

Oklahoma City, Ok., April 14.—Gov. Cruce's policy for abolition of some of the State educational institutions received a severe jolt today when the House of Representatives killed the Woodward resolution proposing to submit the question to a vote of the people. The resolution came from the Committee on Public Institutions with an adverse report, causing Mr. Woodward to offer a motion that would have placed the resolution on the calendar for direct House action. This failed by vote of 34 to 36.

Members from the institutional towns say they were not being fairly treated in the way the question was to be submitted, and declare that now the die is cast between themselves and the executive office in the matter of institutional legislation. When the calling of a special session was before the governor he agreed to submit to the lawmakers matters of appropriations for state institutions, reserving his executive privilege of vetoing any or all of them. It was agreed by some of the house leaders to pass the Woodward resolution, which would carry the question of institutional abandonment to a vote of the people. Question arose as to the form of submission. As explained by the institutional people, the governor's supporters wanted to start with the assumption that three normals were to be abolished, and those receiving the lowest number of votes were to go. The institutional folks declared this would have been unfair.

The institutional representatives said they were not unwilling for the vote, but demanded that the people be given an opportunity to first say whether all of the normals should be continued. If the affirmative side of the question won, the issue was to be considered determined without regard to the vote on the individual school. If the negative side won, then the three normals receiving the fewest number of votes were to be closed. In addition, the representatives insisted that all of the institutions, from the state university to the district agricultural schools, also go on the ballot.

Under plans quickly formulated, following adverse action on the Woodward resolution, the institutional towns' representatives will endeavor to put through the appropriation bills for the schools which measures have passed the senate, thus placing the burden of eliminating up to the governor. The governor's only recourse would lie in a veto message, and the legislature's method of retaliation would be to pass the bills again. Since all late senate bills, that body would have the first say in overriding a veto and it is predicted there are sufficient number of votes in the senate to do so. It is problematical what the house would do.

Gov. Cruce had little comment to make.

What will you do if the appropriation bills reach you?" he was asked. "I have nothing to say on that point."

The Woodward resolution contemplated submitting to vote of the people whether the following institutions should be closed: Three state normals, all of the district agricultural schools save that at Goodwell, Texas county; the branch preparatory school at Claremore and the school of mines at Wilburton.

"There has been lodged a motion to reconsider," said Mr. Woodward tonight, "and if that fails, we will initiate a measure."

Railway Official to Be Tried.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 15.—R. B. White, division superintendent of the Chicago, Hamilton and Dayton Company, is to be tried in the criminal court here this week on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

The charge is the result of the C. H. and D. wreck in Irvington last November, which cost sixteen lives. Several of the higher officials of the company have been indicted and it is expected the White case will determine whether these indictments will "stick." The indictments against the officials were drawn on the theory that the officials had failed to comply with the law providing for the installation of a block signal system approved by the railroad commission of Indiana. It later developed that the railroad commission had given the company until January 1, 1913, to install the block system.

ENCOURAGE THE BOYS.

Don't poke fun at the boy who comes from the forks of the creek with seed in his hair, mud on his face, patches in the north department of his pants, and just one "gallus" on. He has look seedy now, but ten years from now he might be president of some bank, pastor of some big church, pleading eloquently at the bar or giving our prescriptions to cure the sick and afflicted. Just because a boy lives in town wears two kinds of socks, parts his hair in the middle, sucks at a cigarette, and curls his hair on his mother's curling irons, with a daddy who has the "spoonerilix" to burn, that is no sign that he is going to run this country in the future. We'll put our money in the sound, sane and sensible boy from the forks of the creek, who has to back up in the chimney corner to keep the north wind from blowing him into kingdom come, because his clothes department does not fit the weather. The perpetuation of this great American republic depends upon the education of our boys and girls of our country. Who but knows that some Collin county boy may some day be president or governor? No one. Twenty-five years ago Governor Oscar Branch Colquitt was working for $10 per month as porter at the old East line depot at Dangerfield. Now he is governor of the greatest state in the American union. Fifteen years ago, United States Senator Morris Sheppard was porter in the state capital at Austin. Now he is United States senator from Texas, and not 40 years of age. Don't poke fun at the boys who adorn their pants with patches they will be men some day. Honesty, sobriety and integrity always has and always will win. Hurrah for the boys from the forks of the creek, and the town, too, when they both do right.—McKinney (Tex.) Courier-Gazette.

Now that one rural route out of Ada has been approved it is up to the business men to make the most of it. They can now compete on equal terms with the mail order houses by advertising freely and using parcels post. Also, it should act as a stimulus to push the establishment of other routes and make Ada the center of rural routes for Pontotoc county. Incidentally these routes will accomplish much in the way of good road construction, for the maintenance of good roads is imperative in the rural route territory.

EVICTED VICEROY FROM HOME

Element of Humor in Recent Action of Petulant Government of New South Wales.

Australia is a land of political experiments. The latest of these is the eviction of the governor-general or viceroy, the official representative of the king. It is the government of New South Wales that has performed this astonishing feat, and the indignation which burst forth at the moment is giving way to prolonged laughter. Since the union of the colonies under the name of the Commonwealth of Australia, it has been the habit of the governor-general to live for a part of the year at Sydney, New South Wales, and for the other part at Melbourne, Victoria, Government house at Sydney is the property of the government of New South Wales, having been the residence of the governors of that colony before the commonwealth was formed; but the colonial government gladly lent it to the viceroy of all Australia for the honor of his presence in the city.

But the government of the colony recently took offense at the proposal of the federal government for the establishment by the commonwealth of a post office savings bank, which would have come into competition with the New South Wales State Savings bank, and rashly resolved to emphasize its opposition, hoping perhaps to frighten the federal government from its purpose, by resuming possession of government house and thereby turning out the governor-general. The deed has been done and Lord Denham has left the city, cheered all along the route to the railway station by the citizens, and presented on their behalf by the lord mayor with an address expressing love and loyalty, condemning the action of the government as an indefensible outrage on the national hospitality, and affirming the official residence at Sydney re-established. Alas for the spiteful landlord! There is in this affair the libretto for a comic opera.—Boston Herald.

NEW USE FOR BOSTON DISH

Californian Makes Serious Declaration That It's Use as a Hair Tonic Will Prove Beneficial.

It has always been understood that, as a diet, pork and beans was "filling," but it remained for a California inventor, Thomas H. Bartlett, to find out a few years ago that it had the property of "filling" the hair into the head and to cause that already in place to "stick to" its support. Mr. Bartlett describes his hair tonic as consisting of pork fat, bean oil and other specified ingredients, and describes with great particularity the cooking of a very nice edible dish of baked beans preparatory to completing the tonic. Thus in the description forming part of his patent he says: "I take three cups of common white beans and three pounds of salt pork. The beans are parboiled, and then boiled with the pork for eight hours, and then covered tight and baked for twelve hours." With brown bread that would make a pretty good Saturday night tea in Boston.

His Mash Note.
In her suite in a New York hotel Sarah Bernhardt was narrating reminiscences of the stage to a group of dramatic critics.

Though the kings and princes of Europe include some sadly deteriorated physical specimens, it would be a mistake to suppose that they have not some able men among them. Probably they average as high in mental ability as kings did in the middle ages when they not only reigned, but governed. The German emperor is a strong ruler, and Francis Joseph of Austria has sailed his crazily built empire on a very even keel for many years.

Victor Emmanuel of Italy is a very prudent and clever man, who can think and act on his own responsibility, and Alfonso of Spain is a man of great spirit and an able politician. Ferdinand of Bulgaria is cutting a wide swath just at present, and is credited with brains.

George V. of England is commonplace, but prudent. Accounts of the character and ability of the Russian Czar differ widely. Some who have seen him credit him with great ability, but the course of events in Russia does not seem to justify this estimate. King Haakon of Norway is undoubtedly a clever man, and King George of Greece has been an excellent diplomatic agent for the Hellenic kingdom, as well as a shrewd moderator of the personal ambitions of Greek statesmen.

Man as Bad as 7,000 Years Ago.
"Man has showed no improvement either in intellectuality or morals from the days of the earliest Egyptians and Syrians, 7,000 years ago, to the keeping of the latest dreadnought," according to a survey which Dr. Alfred Russell Wallace, known as the "grand old man of science," completed on the eve of his ninetieth birthday.

"There has been, of course, a great accumulation of human knowledge," he adds, "but for all that we are no cleverer than the ancients."

"There is still more abominable vice going on; every kind of cruelty to the poor and children; adulteration in every commodity, and lies everywhere."

"The average of mankind will remain the same until natural selection steps in to raise it. The outlook is hopeful."

Sun Power in Egypt.

At Meadi, a suburb of Cairo, is a sun-power plant of unusual interest. It consists of five reflectors, each 204 feet long, whose cross section is in the form of a parabola, with the generator units at the focus. The last named are of zinc, built of rectangular sections 14 inches wide.

To render them efficient they are painted with a black paint of high heat absorbing capacity. The water is introduced at the lower end and the generator at its upper end is provided with silvered glass mirrors. The plant works best at a pressure slightly below the atmosphere.—Scientific American.

In Merry England.

"That's rather a handsome mantelpiece you have there, Mr. Binkston," said the visitor.

"Yes," replied Mr. Binkston, proudly. "It is a memorial to my wife."

"Why—I was not aware that Mrs. Binkston had passed away," said the visitor, sympathetically.

"Oh, no, indeed, she hasn't," smiled Mr. Binkston. "She is serving her thirtieth sojourn in jail. That mantelpiece is built of the bricks she was convicted of throwing."

MENTAL PROCESS OF WOMEN

Mistake to Assume That Because It Seems So, the Majority of Sex Thinks Superficially.

Take, for instance, the assumption that most women think superficially and with less logic than men, which is probably a fact. Ward (Lester F.) says they reach conclusions by intuition, a sort of short-cut method evolved by the emergencies of their lives. Yet any woman knows from her childhood that men prefer to do her thinking for her, and will disapprove of her if she sets up an opinion against theirs. In primitive ages not only was thinking unnecessary for a woman, beyond the narrow range of her traditional duties, but it was an actual impropriety.

Now, only a genius, a reformer, or a mad person does what will be disapproved of. Until the last half century marriage was the only career open to women—a thinking woman was not attractive to men—therefore the astute young woman either stopped reasoning as far as possible when she came to years of discretion, or concealed her mental operations. Many a woman who attains her ends by coquetry and hysteria is, like the parrot who couldn't talk, "keepin' up a devil of a thinkin' all the while," and will confide to another woman, who is in the secret, a keen analysis of the issue involved.—Mary Roberts Cooledge.

ROYAL HEADS NOT ALL WEAK

Some Able Men Among Those Who Are at Present the Occupants of European Thrones.

Though the kings and princes of Europe include some sadly deteriorated physical specimens, it would be a mistake to suppose that they have not some able men among them. Probably they average as high in mental ability as kings did in the middle ages when they not only reigned, but governed. The German emperor is a strong ruler, and Francis Joseph of Austria has sailed his crazily built empire on a very even keel for many years.

Victor Emmanuel of Italy is a very prudent and clever man, who can think and act on his own responsibility, and Alfonso of Spain is a man of great spirit and an able politician. Ferdinand of Bulgaria is cutting a wide swath just at present, and is credited with brains.

Dog Turns Grindstone.
Philadelphia has a one-legged knife grinder who is particularly proud of his dog, and no wonder, for the intelligent animal aids him greatly in his daily toil. It was formerly the man's custom—his crippled condition preventing him from working the pedal—to pay stray youngsters to turn the wheel for him.

This, of course, greatly curtailed his profits; so he set about training a Newfoundland dog to do the duty. The canine pupil was apt, and is now installed as the grinder's regular assistant.

The grindstone is a very small one, and, by standing on a box, the dog is able to reach the handle and turn it fast or slow, as his master desires.

First Aid From King Manuel.

King Manuel, in rendering first aid to one of the audience at a Munich theater, follows in the footsteps of his ancestor, Louis Philippe. The king of the French in his early youth studied medicine and surgery at the Hotel Dieu. He habitually carried a lancet in his pocket, and said he had found it useful on many occasions in the course of his wandering life. Even after he came to the throne Louis Philippe's surgical knowledge served him in good stead. In 1829 one of his outriders was struck with apoplexy on the road between Paris and Compiegne, and the king bled him most scientifically with his own hands.—London Chronicle.

Dark Space Among the Stars.

Absolutely dark spaces among the stars have puzzled astronomers since the time of Herschel. In Milky Way photographs, Dr. Kopff has noticed an almost complete absence of faint stars immediately around certain nebulae, with an abundance of such stars within the nebulae and far outside. A late suggestion by Dr. Espin is that the margins of such nebulae may be too diffuse to become illuminated and yet dense enough to absorb light. If such an assumption be made, he finds that it explains not only the blank surrounding spaces but the dark holes and lanes within the bright nebulae.

Industrial Workers Capture Train.

Colorado Springs, Colo., April 14. Commanding a Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific freight train that left Pueblo last night, 102 Industrial Workers of the World, recently ordered out of Grand Junction, Colo., obtained transportation to this city, where they were met early today by the entire police force.

They marched to the police station for the night and will be escorted from the city by the municipal authorities. Several freight trains passed the band along the right of way, having received orders not to allow them to board any train.

By building a fire on the track they brought a train to a standstill with the improvised danger signal and boarded it, despite the warnings and threats of the train crew.

At Pueblo a squad of police armed with rifles last night started to drive out of the town the band of Industrial Workers of the World, who returned after being carried out of the city on flat cars earlier in the day.

Before the detachment of police came up with the band it flagged a Rock Island freight train and escaped.

Speaking of old-time weddings and newspaper notices they received as somebody did in a recent issue it recalled to the writer the days when he was a devil in a printing office. Every time the editor gave a wedding a half column notice the type stickers knew it meant a basket and sandwiches and cake and a few bottles of wine for them. But every thing has changed, and the average couple is now so secretive about their marriage that the editor hires a girl to handle the weddings so he won't get whipped.—Tishomingo Capital.

Lincoln Died 48 Years Ago.

Washington, D. C., April 15.—Today was the forty-eighth anniversary of the death of Abraham Lincoln. Several of the patriotic societies held anniversary meetings to commemorate the day and there were many visitors to the house where the martyred president breathed his last. The house contains the Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics, notable among them the death mask of Lincoln.

Economical Ironing

To iron economically you must not waste heat.

Ironing with ordinary flat irons is very wasteful of heat; most of the heat goes up the kitchen chimney; a lot of it is wasted in charring the ironing pad and in scorching the clothes.

Ironing with a

is quite different—all the heat is in the iron ready to go into the pieces ironed instead of going into the room or up the kitchen chimney. None of it is wasted.

To use only the amount of heat actually needed for ironing, be it either heavy damp pieces or lace, embroidery or other light goods is real economy.

The Seniors and Juniors entertained the Sophomores and the sponsors of the respective classes at the normal last night. The seniors and juniors proved themselves royal hosts. A few sub-freshmen and others ventured too near—well "nuff sed."

The team promises that it will not be necessary for them to make a ninth inning rally in the game with Sulphur Deaf school next Friday but if they need to do so here's our word that they can do it.

Miss Kirwan missed her train in Bartlesville yesterday and so did not get back until this morning.

Miss Switzer returned yesterday from a few days in Dallas.

A. N. Harrison is making more equipment for the training school. Mr. Harrison is a "prince" in this line of work.

J. H. Johnson landscape gardener of the normal is very busy now planting flowers. One of the prettiest pieces of work will be the improvement of the two stars to the entrance to the building. At the tip of each prong will be geraniums and verbena flowers. The hedge around the drive way is now, one of the prettiest to be found anywhere.

Once upon a time the Y. W. C. A. girls sold candy. But now, they will sell more candy Wednesday at noon. So don't forget your nickel.

LITTLE CALVIN

GIBSON DEAD

Satisfaction. Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessing.—Carlyle.

About 6 o'clock this morning little Calvin Gibson, son of Mrs. George Gibson, died from a complication caused by measles and pneumonia. The funeral and interment took place this afternoon.

The little fellow was less than five years old, and was an unusually bright child. His death following so soon after that of his father was a great shock to his mother, who had battled for many days and nights for the life of her little one. However, it was of no avail and the child finally answered the summons of the grim reaper.

MAY ENLARGE JUDGE McKEOWN'S DISTRICT

Under the terms of the bill recently passed by the house, Judge McKeown will have Johnston county added to his district. He has worked manfully to catch up with his heavy docket in the present district and although this addition would give him a heavy load he has enough energy to turn out a great deal of work, and no man in the state could come nearer keeping up with the work of the new district than he could.

Scientific Gardening in England. By the use of French gardening methods, relying largely upon hotbeds and glass jars in the colder months, single acres of ground near London are being made to yield from $2,400 to $3,000 in vegetables annually. There is a product to market throughout the year. Melons, little grown in England, are forced by a steady temperature of 90 degrees, generated by manure.

Omit the Word "Can't." It is said that Napoleon the Great hated the word "can't," and that he never used it if he could possibly help it. In that respect most people differ from Napoleon. If they were to substitute the word "will" for "can't" they would be able to accomplish much more.

Felt She Was Neglected. There was company in the parlor, and little Marjorie, overheard, listened longingly to the sounds of fun and laughter that from time to time floated up to her chamber. When, by and by, her mother came in for a last look and kiss, she found her darling wide awake and reproachful. "Oh, mamma," was the unexpected exclamation of the small maiden, "I've been so lonely, lying here all alone, while you were having such a liberal time downstairs."

ONE YEAR SINCE

TITANIC DISASTER

New York, April 15—One year ago today, in the cold gray dawn of the morning of April 15th, the White Star liner Titanic, the largest vessel in the world, foundered in mid-ocean, after striking an iceberg. More than fifteen hundred lives were lost in the disaster, which was the greatest of its kind in the world's history.

The Titanic was bound for New York when she met her fate and a large number of New Yorkers were among the victims of the disaster. The memory of these victims was honored today in impressive memorial services held in various churches in this city. One of the most interesting of these services was held in various churches in this city. One of the most interesting of these services was held in the lower East Side in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Straus, whose deeds of charity and philanthropy, as well as the heroism of their deaths, will ever live in the memories of residents of that section of the city.

The Titanic sailed from South Hampton, on April 10, on her maiden trip to New York in command of Captain E. J. Smith, with a crew of 860 men and 1,324 passengers. She had been hailed far and wide as "the unsinkable ship" with watertight compartments which would stand her in good stead in any emergency.

On the night of Sunday, April 14, in latitude 41°16' north and longitude 50°14' west the great liner, steaming along under a star decked sky, struck the submerged spur of an iceberg, which ripped a seam in her side below the water line.

There were no fears among the passengers at first that the Titanic would not survive her injuries but as the water streamed into the hole, filling the compartments, Capt. Smith and his crew realized the worst and manned the life-boats. Men lifted their wives into small boats and sent them adrift on a sea of ice, remaining on deck awaiting the sinking of the ship. All told 704 persons got off in the boats, which it was later determined had a sufficient capacity to have accommodated 1,176. These were rescued by the steamship Carpathia. The Titanic went down early on the morning of April 15.

Tales told by the rescued of the heroism of many who went to their death are still fresh in the minds of men. But none was more splendid than the act of the ship's musicians as the "unsinkable ship" was sinking in giving solace to the dying by playing "Nearer, My God to Thee."

As the result of a senatorial investigation into the accident blame was placed on Capt. Smith for failing to heed warnings that icebergs lay ahead and the British Board of Trade was censured for lack of regulations improper inspection.

Among the more prominent men who were lost with the big ship were Col. John Jacob Astor, Isidor Straus, Major Archibald Butt, personal aid to President Taft; F. D. Millet, artist; Jacques Futrelle, novelist; G. B. Widener, of Philadelphia; Henry B. Harris, theatrical manager, and William T. Stead, the famous journalist.

SATURDAY'S BALL GAME IN DETAIL

In spite of the fact that Collins for Sacred Heart was wild and walked five men, still it took eleven innings of fighting and scrapping to wrest the game from these visitors and add another victory to the record of East Central. The cold north wind made the game slow and caused a number of errors on both sides. Still it was such a game as many men will remember for a long time. It was filled with surprises from beginning to end.

The ninth again proved to be the home team's lucky inning. With the score standing 2 to 5 in favor of Sacred Heart when the last part of the ninth came, the home boys went to the bat determined to wrest a victory from what appeared to be certain defeat. They were cheered manfully by the large crowd of students and rooters from the town. Then really the unexpected happened. Ligon walked. Young struck out. Robinson singled, scoring Ligon. McMillan C. singled. Robison went to third, and McMillan went to second on next pitched ball. Tolbert singled, scoring Robison and McMillan and tying the score.

No more runs were made till the eleventh. McMillan C. singled. Tolbert singled. Reed walked. With the bases full, McDaniel came to bat and drove a long sacrifice fly to left field, scoring McMillan and bringing in the winning run.

Collins, the twirler for the visitors, was wild but had a way of settling down in pinches. Jones, for Ada, pitched good ball, but he was relieved in the beginning for the sixth by Ligon. Ligon for the remaining six innings held the visitors runless.

Robison was plainly the hero of the day with the willow wand. Out of six trips to the plate he made three clean hits and walked twice. Only once did he fail to do what he wanted to do. He lifted a high fly too much and let it fall gracefully into the shortstop's glove. Claud McMillan and Ben Tolbert were not far behind with the effective swatting of the mysterious sphere. Claud and Ben both delivered two safeties each, and that too when they had to be delivered. In fact Ben handled the stick that brought in the two runs to tie up the score in the ninth.

For the visitors, Abbott, Negronet, and Jones were the only ones who were able to find many of the slants of Jones and Ligon. The cold north wind made errors on both sides numerous. Roddie and Reed both missed easy fielders' choice, and Claud McMillan seemed to be trying to see how far above Tolbert's head he could heave the ball in trying for first base. In fact he threw one ball so far that it has never yet been found.

The hitting on the whole was pretty evenly divided between the two teams. The visitors were able to garner nine, while the home boys put down ten to their credit.

Score by innings:

Ada ... 1 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 3 0 1
S. Heart ... 1 0 1 0 3 0 0 0 0 0
Struck out by Jones 4, by Ligon 5, by Collins 8.

Young Man on Trial for Murder.

Rockville, Md., April 15.—What promises to be one of the most notable criminal trials that has taken place here in a long time was begun this morning, when Norman Bruce McCleary was arraigned in court to be tried for the alleged murder of Mrs. Nannie B. Henry of Hagerstown, mother of his former sweetheart, Miss Lupah Henry. The case was brought here on change of venue from Washington county.

Mrs. Henry was choked to death about the fifteenth day of last August and several days later her body was found lying across a bed in her home at Eagerstown. At the request of the Hagerstown authorities McCleary, a young man of good family, but a "little wild," was arrested in Washington D. C., two days after the discovery of the murder.

McCleary is said to have been a suitor for the hand of Miss Lupah Henry, daughter of the murdered woman and a stenographer, in the office of the Hagerstown municipal electric light plant. Miss Henry, it is said, did not look upon him with favor, and August 15 left Hagerstown on a vacation and in order to escape the alleged unwelcome attentions of McCleary.

It is understood that the accused young man intends to maintain that he is guiltless of the crime charged against him, notwithstanding that he is said to have signed a confession drawn up by the state's Attorney a few days after his arrest, in which he admitted that he had choked Mrs. Henry. Two of the leading law firms of Hagerstown and Rockville have been engaged to conduct the defense

Rheumatism Affects Lungs

Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Phthisis, Asthma and Anemia Often Directly by the Result of Rheumatic Blood.

If you have a persistent, nagging bronchial cough beware of cough remedies. They are merely local in action, and if they do relieve it is the narcotics that do it. What you require is a blood purifier, a searching antidote that removes from the circulation the acid poisons that by their reflexes attack all weakened, susceptible spots and thus create local symptoms. The very best remedy known is Swift's Sure Specific. You will find it on sale in any drug store at $1.00 per bottle. It goes straight into the blood, becomes an internal blood bath, wonderfully increases the red corpuscles, cures all the local fever spots and irritations, increases appetite, you take on flesh and feel a wonderful sense of renewed strength. Hundreds of people worried beyond control at cough, pains in the chest, sore throat and constant expectoration of thick, mucous have experienced the most wonderful change in taking S. S. S. All doubt and apprehension is dispelled, the pain and aches vanish, there follows a period of most intense rejoicing to find that worst fears were based entirely upon a mistaken notion that cough and chest pains come from the lungs. These are rheumatic conditions, and you will quickly realize it after using S. S. S. for a few days. Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day at the drug store and then say good-by to all those pains that have worried you.

Write to the Swift Specific Co., 127 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for medical advice and wonderful facts concerning the greatest blood remedy ever known.
